

GLOBAL FEMINISM
IN SOLIDARITY AND ACTION.

CHAIR

FEBRUARY 2024

A LETTER FROM ANNIE LENNOX, THE CIRCLE NGO FOUNDER

Right now there is an urgent need to stand in solidarity in demanding action to defend the freedoms and rights of women and girls everywhere around the world. All our sisters, mothers and daughters must have protection against violence, as well as universal access to healthcare, education and fundamental human rights in all private and public spaces.

As we have recently celebrated The Circle's 15th year, I've become more conscious of everything we've achieved as an organisation, and everything we still have to do. It is a milestone moment for The Circle, and a crossroads moment for women around the world. The challenges women face are immense. From the epidemic of gender-based violence to the scourge of modern slavery. And now, for the first time in a century, we face concerted global efforts to roll back the rights won by generations of heroic women past, in order to make the disempowerment and subjugation of women and girls a cultural and political norm.

The Circle's message of 'Global Feminism' and your participation and support, offers us a unique opportunity to play a significant role in fighting against these negative trends. We are developing a network of inspirational partnerships and inroads at grassroots level which can produce powerful, long-lasting influence and transformative change. Join Us.

BUT IT IS NEVER EASY.
WE HAVE TO BE RESILIENT AND DETERMINED."

A LETTER FROM RAAKHI SHAH, THE CIRCLE NGO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

A NEW FRONTIER OF OPPRESSION

The rights of women and girls has come under a mounting assault across the world over the last few years. We watched in hope as women in Iran and Afghanistan rose up against repression and gender apartheid in their countries, and then reacted with horror as their voices were brutally silenced, with the international community standing by. We saw the use of sexual violence as a weapon of war continue to surge in the world's conflict zones. As the world economy reeled from the after-effects of the pandemic, we saw a rise in the exploitation of women as cheap or forced labour in farms and factories across the Global South. In several countries, we also saw attempts to roll back the hard-won legal rights of women, most notably with the US Supreme Court decision to overturn the abortion protections set out in Roe v Wade. And we saw the surge of a dangerous new culture of online and institutional misogyny, with the violent abuse of women not just excused, but normalised, encouraged and celebrated.

WE MUST ALL RISE

It was more important than ever for The Circle to stand strong, both in the solidarity we showed to women, and in the action we took to help the forces of global feminism fight back in defence of women's rights and freedoms. Last year The Circle deepened its partnerships with grassroots global feminist organisations in several countries working at the front-line of their communities to end gender-based violence and enable women to build better futures for themselves. We were able to utilise our global network to support with legal advice, media skills workshops, and funding advice, amplifying the work and voices of our partners and activists, contributing to global advocacy coalitions, hosting events, and reaching new audiences.

A UNIQUE GLOBAL FEMINIST NETWORK

Every woman and ally who is part of The Circle's global network is a changemaker uniting to make The Circle a unique home for impactful change. The Circle is a growing organisation, entirely funded by the donations and grants we receive from partners and supporters, with a five-year strategy that speaks to our ambition for greater impact than ever.

Raakhi Shah, The Circle NGO Chief Executive

THE CIRCLE NGO PARTNERS

"Partnering with the Circle has been so special and given us the opportunity to meet and discuss with influential women around the world which is inspiring and motivating, and to be internationally recognised as a women's rights organisation."

MUKYALA ZAITUNA, WOMEN IN LEADERSHIP UGANDA

"Our project with The Circle is a great opportunity for us to strengthen women workers and survivors in the garment industry through awareness raising, advocacy and psychosocial support. We should speak out fearlessly by coming forward to build a women's working activist network across the world."

PADMINI WEERASURIYA, DIRECTOR OF THE WOMEN'S CENTRE SRI LANKA

"The Circle and Rahela Trust share the belief that when women are given confidence, opportunities and access to resources, incredible, positive, change can be achieved. As a small charity, we are eager to learn from the circle's expertise and bring that knowledge to our evolving work. Together, we're confident we can create an equitable future for the women and people of Afghanistan, and we are honoured to have The Circle as an ally in this important mission."

JOB SUMMARY

Are you passionate about global women's rights and would love to contribute to the cause? Do you believe in the difference you can make in the lives of marginalised and vulnerable women across the world?

We are seeking a Chair of Trustees to lead our Board with energy and commitment. This person should ideally have an extensive network and be willing to engage with their contacts in order to maximise the support and impact of the Circle.

THE ROLE OF THE CHAIR OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

We are looking for a Global Feminist who will be a passionate advocate for the organisation and its grassroots partners. They will have experience of governance processes or similar roles and use their influence and networks to support the delivery of our ambitious strategy and mission. As an ambassador, the Chair will represent the organisation externally, broadening support and relationships with corporate partners, philanthropic organisations, and individuals.

The Circle is fortunate to have a Board that is engaged in and passionate about its work. The Board is responsible for accountability, inspiration, and constructive challenge. Our Board oversees and holds accountable The Circle's executive leadership, ensuring it is always financially sustainable, well-run, and of good reputation. The Board safeguards assets and applies them in line with The Circle's governing documents. Our Trustees come from a range of backgrounds in the charity, public and private sectors. Some bring previous experience of being Trustees and some are newer to the Board. More information on our Board members can be found here.

The Chair will work alongside the Vice Chair, Treasurer and Trustees to support the CEO and team. Currently the Vice Chair leads on programme and partnerships with grassroots women's rights organisations, alongside strengthening governance and ensuring robust operational management. The Vice Chair sits on the Finance and Risk Committee and deputises for the Chair as required. The Treasurer chairs the Finance and Risk Committee and leads on implementing the financial strategy in order to ensure robust financial management.

PERSON SPECIFICATION

We are looking for someone with networks, connections and influence, and a background in the corporate and/or philanthropic sectors, who is willing to use their networks to generate more support for The Circle. Ideally, this will be someone with a profile which will help us achieve our ambitious plans to transform the lives of women and girls. We are excited to work with a leader who is able to represent us and shine a light on the important work that our grassroots partners are doing and the impact they are making on the ground. The Chair will engage with a broad range of people—from corporate partners and prospective donors, to celebrities, to partners on the ground. They will bring credibility, strong interpersonal and representational skills, and share our values.

The Chair should be both pragmatic and ambitious. They should have an understanding of how small organisations operate, as well as appreciation for the challenges and limitations that come with that, balanced with what strategic elements need to be put in place for future growth.

This is a significant leadership opportunity for the right person. We value the life experience, knowledge, and skills that this person will bring to help us to fulfil our purpose.

We recognise the importance of having a diverse and inclusive Board. The Circle is committed to achieving greater diversity and therefore welcome applications from women with a range of life experiences and backgrounds.
